Hilary Dymond

Vallées blanches

Hilary Dymond was born in Blackwood, Wales in 1953. She studied art at Kingston University and Wimbledon School of Art, moving to France in 1987 where she continued and completed her studies at the Ecole des Beaux Arts de Lyon, obtaining a diploma and winning the Linossier Prize. Since then a very successful career as a professional artist has followed. She has exhibited widely and has paintings in many public and private collections.

Hilary's work is inspired by the natural world around us. Her subject-matter is carefully observed, drawn and painted until she feels it has been mastered.

This first major U.K. exhibition of Hilary's oil paintings shows a number of the breathtaking views within the Vallées blanches and the Massif du Mont Blanc, that many will be familiar with. It is the result of an extensive amount of research by the artist, including trekking, sketching and photography, plus numerous revisits to the area to ensure her accuracy to detail. You will be, as we were, truly amazed by the atmosphere, perspective and natural beauty captured in Hilary's work.

For anyone who enjoys the mountains they are a 'must'; whether it be walking, skiing or just appreciating the panoramic views of the 'hautes montagnes' in all their majesty.

Don't miss the Private View where there will be the opportunity of meeting Hilary Dymond and experiencing this sensational exhibition over a glass of vintage champagne.
